

ATLANTA HOMES<sup>TM</sup> & LIFESTYLES

personal
STYLE

from CLASSIC to CONTEMPORARY
*inside a cabinet
of curiosities*

special section
HOMES OF THE YEAR

NOVEMBER 2010
ATLANTAHOMESMAG.COM

$4.95US

11 >

opposite far left The concrete-and-iron console in the entryway was a spontaneous purchase. "A friend walked in one day and said, 'I saw this piece at Lush Life and you just have to buy it.' So I did," says Hooff. A custom handrail by Jason Smith, of Smithworks Iron & Design, creates a light and airy look in the entryway. The Napoleon III-style armchair formerly belonged to the homeowner's mother. The small paintings are by Georgia artist Donna Mintz. opposite left This cove-like patio, once a rambling herb garden, is the lowest part of the outdoor landscape, giving it a cozy feeling. Today, it serves as a secluded spot for lingering evening conversations and provides a fabulous atmosphere for parties.

